E N V Í N A T E

The name “Envínate” (wine yourself up) refers not to a person but to a group of four friends, a collective of winemakers devoted to reinterpreting Spanish wine with the intention of protecting indigenous grape varieties. Together they make wine in Ribeira Sacra, Almansa and the Canary Islands. Their wines are fresh, loaded with personality, and completely unique while at the same time clearly representing their regional origins. Due to the vineyard specific nature of these wines, they are made in extremely limited quantities and are highly allocated.
